The Hungry Llama

The owners of the new restaurant, "The Hungry Llama," have hired you to create a landing page for their business. The landing page should be fully responsive for mobile devices and contain the following links:

- Home
- Menu
- About Us
- Contact

You have the freedom to set up the content on the landing page and decide whether the links will lead to separate pages or remain on the initial page. However, the restaurant owners would like the landing page to display or hint at some of the dishes that are being offered. The full menu should have its own sub-page.

Before beginning the coding process, it's important to have a loosely based wireframe of the project. This can be created using programs like Figma or online wireframing tools, or simply drawn with a pen and paper.

You are free to choose whatever color scheme you like

You will be judged on

General look	40%
Responsiveness	25%
Code	25%
Wire frames	10%
